JOINT STATEMENT OF THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK AND THE AMERICAN ARBITRATION ASSOCIATION DEALING WITH THE TERMINATION OF WAR CONTRACTS

We believe that the speedy and equitable settlement of cancelled war contracts is an imperative necessity if we are to maintain employment and preserve a solvent private enterprise economy after the end of the war.

Delay in settlement will operate as a denial of justice and a "death sentence" against any but the giant corporations with huge reserves and vast credit resources.

Capricious, arbitrary or hyper-technical interpretation of contract provisions will work great injustice on contractors who have foregone peacetime operations and converted their plants and organizations into vitally needed home-front war production activity.

On the other hand, the Government, as trustee for the nation's people who ultimately must pay the war bill, must protect the public equity against possible fraud or collusion between its agents and unscrupulous contractors.

Nearly every war contract now being or already written by the Government contains a denial of basic justice if the Government officer interprets the contract strictly. By the terms of many of these contracts dictated by Government, the Government officer who placed the contract (or his superior officer) becomes the final arbiter of any and every fact involved in a dispute between him and the contractor; also under existing law contracting officers are estopped from making an equitable settlement if it involves in the slightest degree the waiver without adequate consideration of an existing technical legal right held by the Government even if this right of the Government be the result merely of inadvertent omission in the contract or failure on the part of the contractor to insist upon specific written authorization for a given act directed by a Government officer. To cover such situations special

NOTES ON THE ATLANTA, GEORGIA AREA AS A LOCATION FOR A REGIONAL HEADQUARTERS SERVING THE SOUTH-EASTERN UNITED STATES

ATLANTA-HEADQUARTERS OF THE SOUTHEAST

The U. S. Department of Commerce in its "Commercial Survey of the Southeast" states:

> "The Southeastern trade area as considered in this survey was determined by certain common characteristics, commercial factors and community interests..... Atlanta is generally recognized as the principal headquarters city of this region, being the seat of a large part of the regional administrative machinery of concerns marketing their services in this territory.....
> "The transportation and express companies reported that Atlanta is outstanding in the amount of merchandise received by freight and redistributed by parcel post, express or fast freight .....
> "Atlanta remains today a central point in the main currents of traffic through which a considerable volume of outbound and inbound goods is cleared. Centered in the web of this early inland trade and communication, the city naturally attracted many of the agencies which participate in the direction and control of business in the Southeast. Regional headquarters of national distributors, central banking institutions and larger merchandise concerns have given Atlanta a metropolitan character."

NATIONAL CONCERNS IN ATLANTA

Approximately 3,500 national concerns serve the Southeastern Region from Atlanta. Three hundred of these concerns operate regional manufacturing plants here, 1080 maintain warehouses of their own, the rest maintain sales offices or service organizations for maintaining close contact with the trade in the region. An analysis of the trade area covered by these branch factories and warehouses follows:

95% cover Atlanta and Georgia
80% cover two Southeastern States
75% cover three Southeastern States
67% cover four Southeastern States
58% cover five Southeastern States
50% cover six Southeastern States
40% cover seven Southeastern States
35% cover eight Southeastern States
16% cover other parts of the South (ten states)

by the atlanta chamber of commerce research department

THE MANUFACTURERS' AGENT

AND HIS ROLE IN ATLANTA'S ECONOMY

The manufacturers' agent denotes an individual or firm which represents as a sales agency two or more manufacturers for an assigned territory. Usually the products or "lines" represented are compatible so that all the people he makes calls on are potential customers for most of the products he is trying to sell. This report lists the names, addresses and product lines of more than 300 established manufacturers' agents based in Metropolitan Atlanta.
